DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 51, 101 - 103, 106 – 108 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Akram et al.

Akram et al., U.S. Patent No. 6,400,172 discloses a method for fabricating a semiconductor component. As shown in Figure 2D, a base die comprises a substrate 12. Conductive vias 22 and 42 are formed in the base die. As shown in Figure 1A-1D, a secondary die 14 is bonded to the backside of the base die 12 and contacts on the secondary die 14 are bonded to the conductive vias. Terminal contacts 18 are formed on the base die in electrical communication with the vias. Laser machining forms the vias and an insulating layer 28 is formed in the openings before conductive material 42 is deposited in the vias. Material 42 is described as metal in column 4, line 56. Column 5, line 37 lists nickel as an example of such a metal.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 62 – 67 are allowed.

Art Unit: 2822

Claims 52 – 55, 104, 105, 109 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art does not teach or suggest the thinning of the secondary die.

Claims 56 – 61 are allowed.

The prior art does not teach the base die having a circuit side and a plurality of vias.

Claims 68 – 74 are allowed.

The prior art does not teach or suggest the recited method including forming a polymer layer on the circuit side having openings aligned with the contacts on a base die and forming a plurality of conductive vias in the back side.

Claims 75 – 79 are allowed.

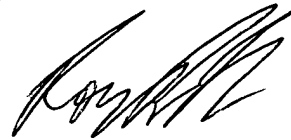

The prior art does not teach or suggest the method including forming vias in both the base die and the secondary die and bonding a second secondary die to the first secondary die.

Conclusion

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Roy K. Potter whose telephone number is 571 272 1842. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F.
